

Is there a “disconnect” in your relationship you can’t quite name?
Does your relationship seem ok but in your heart you know it could be better?
Are there small unspoken things that feel off in your relationship?
Do you think... “----- (fill in the blank, i.e. work, the smart phone, sports, etc.)
is more important than me”?
Do you think...”I’m never good enough for her/him”?

You are not alone!

If we want our relationship to be our treasure, we have to protect and nurture it in order to see it grow. However, with modern life pulling us in many different directions, and often apart, we can feel overwhelmed and our feelings begin to fade... Can you relate?

You have a unique opportunity to reconnect and recharge your relationship right here near the beautiful shores of Lake Michigan. You can soak it all in with your partner at the exquisite Lilley Mansion during a carefully crafted retreat to feed your soul, fill your heart, and reset your body, mind, and relationship. Amy West, who has been in the business of relational health and wellbeing for over 25 years, is collaborating with Patrick Roggenbau, proprietor of the 5 Star Lilley Mansion Bed & Breakfast, to offer an amazing couple’s experience focused on health and relational wellbeing. Enjoy the luxurious setting as you learn to nurture yourself, your partner, and your relationship. Join us at The Lilley Mansion Bed and Breakfast in Spring Lake on March 24-26, 2023 as your hosts, Amy and Patrick, walk you through this customized wellbeing experience.

Join us for this special encounter with your partner and leave knowing that your coupleship treasure is more secure and you have additional tools to ensure it stays this way during future challenges.

Contact us today to be one of the four couples!

info@CUP-Health.com